TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

In January 2008 a complete avionics/autopilot refit was done on our King Air B200 ZS-MTW. The installation has been fantastic and we have had very few snags since the installation. The few that we have encountered were rectified by Execujet extremely promptly. If they had to send an engineer to our base of operations they did so without question and in most cases we were 100% operational again, if not the same day, then the next.

We have found the full suite of Avidyne avionics quite fantastic. In addition to being BE20 rated each of our pilots had to review the DVD provided by Avidyne to comply with 'differences training' requirements of the local CAA and pass an examination. After all of this the pilots had no difficulty in understanding and flying the system. Ease of operation is certainly one of the Avidyne's strong points. With the 10" displays 'situational awareness' is no longer a problem. Having the Jepp charts, Traffic Avoidance System (TAS) and ground prox all available for easy viewing has really assisted our pilots.

We certainly are very happy with the installation.
